Every issued envelope passes the full four-wire gate on its design scenarios: a design-set check, not a certificate of future safety